Phone Progress Told Kiwanians

"Not the Last Word" was the title of an informative talk, followed by sound motion pictures, given members of the Torrance Kiwanis club Monday evening by Dean Smith, public relations director for the Southern California Telephone company. He was accompanied by G. G. Draper, manager of the Wilmington branch, and a sound technician who operated the projector.

Smith emphasized that the newest developments in transportation like the Diesel-powered streamlined trains, giant aircraft and ships like the Queen Mary were "not the 'last word' in transportation. Other late developments in the field of communication, business and entertainment "have only reached the beginning of a new era of better living and are not final in any sense of the word." The telephone company has a number of experimental projects under way which will shortly be put into use to offer still greater service to patrons. Some of these projects were depicted in the screen attraction at the dinner-session.

Tolson Sells Out; Joins M and M

Having disposed of his own trucking business, the first of its kind in Torrance, to a firm which was absorbed by the M. and M. Transfer and Storage company, Mayor William H. Tolson announced this week that he is now associated with John E. Miller in the latter firm's sales department. Tolson was in the trucking business here since 1912 when his big wagon and team of horses hauled many a load of building material that went into the construction of some of the first homes and business houses.

Child Hit by Car Escapes With Scratch

Eddie Strand, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edna T. Strand of 2040 Redondo-Wilmington boulevard, is staying away from all automobiles these days.

He is completely recovered from being knocked 20 feet by a car Sunday afternoon while crossing the boulevard at 248th street in Lomita, but he doesn't want to repeat the experience.

Eddie ran from his mother's side, directly into the path of a speeding automobile. There was a sickening thud as the car's bumper crashed against the boy. Mrs. Strand, frightened and speechless, raced to his side.

But only his nose had been scratched. The motorist, it was reported, sped away without stopping.

Living Memorial Is Tribute to Mrs. Turck

There were flowers a-plenty at the funeral of Mrs. Marguerite Greene Turck, mother of Mrs. B. C. Buxton, held last Saturday in Glendale but a greater tribute to her sterling character will stand for many years to come in the greenery of Humboldt Park in northern California. That is a giant Sequoia tree which was named in her honor several years ago when she was one of the Southland's most active brunettes. At its base is a bronze plaque testifying that the towering tree is the "Turck."

Mrs. Turck passed away at her home for the past 10 years at 1617 Arlington avenue, after only a brief illness. Altho she had been a semi-invalid for about 10 years, she took a great interest in seeing old friends and visiting with her granddaughters, Mrs. James H. Scott of this city and Mrs. Stewart Grow of La Crescenta. She was 78 years of age, a native of Fremont, Ohio, where her father was a circuit riding judge.

Active in La Crescenta following her marriage to Charles Miller Turck, a jeweler, in her home town, she moved to Butte, Montana, and when Mr. Turck, who passed away here two years ago, retired from active work, traveled extensively, making a European tour of some duration.

Thirty years ago the Turcks came to California. They lived in Glendale several years and then moved to La Crescenta where Mrs. Turck assisted in organizing the Woman's club of that community. She was president of this group when it built a splendid clubhouse. Despite her club, charitable and patriotic activities, she took great interest in her family and especially in her three grand-grandsons in the Scott family here.

The funeral service, conducted by a Christian Science reader, was private at Glendale and cremation followed.

Whiskey Vessel To Be Salvaged

COLUMBUS, Ga. (U.P.)—Somewhere beneath the silent, muddy waters of Apalachicola river in Liberty county, Fla., lies a wrecked steamship—its hold laden with 15,000 gallons of time-mellowed whiskey.

It's the Alice, sunken when the boat struck a snag one October day—72 years ago. It was during the second trip up the river from Apalachicola to Columbus that the mishap occurred. Capt. Ezekiah Wingate of Columbus and several hands were lost.

It was the next few weeks, Frank P. Blair of Chicago will attempt to salvage the Alice and the $300,000 cargo of whiskey, once valued at only $3,000.

Blair discussed here his plan to salvage the 156-foot steamer. He said the boat is now under 28 feet of mud and two feet of water, its sunken position having changed the rivers course. Blair hopes to raise the Alice by constructing a coffer dam above its resting place.

The Atlanta Bureau of Internal Revenue said Blair had informed the government of salvage plans, and that Federal representatives would be present when the ship was raised.

The Chicago man said heirs of the owners to whom the whiskey lot was consigned would be due to get a percentage of the salvage. He estimated the 300 barrels of whiskey in the sunken ship would contain 50 gallons to the barrel—amounting to 15,000 gallons.

Father of Two Local Residents Passes Away

The loss of his devoted wife last December was a blow from which Alexander R. Arco, father of Gaston Arco and Mrs. Bettina Miller of this city, never recovered and Tuesday night he passed away at the Torrance Memorial hospital following a minor operation. He was 64 years of age, a native of Belgium who came to this country 31 years ago.

Mr. Arco's health began to fail immediately following the death of his wife and his son and daughter say that he appeared to take little interest in remaining behind after his helpmate for many years was gone. Mr. Arco, who was a retired glass worker, came to California 13 years ago and became a naturalized citizen. In addition to his two children, he was survived by a brother, John B. Arco of Redondo Beach, and two grandchildren, Geraldine Arco and Richard Miller.

The funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock at Allen's Mortuary on Diamond street in Redondo and interment will be at Pacific Crest cemetery, El Nido.

World's Deepest Oil Hole Not at Bottom

Thirteen thousand seven hundred and forty feet.

That's the depth this week of the world's deepest oil well. It is Continental Oil's KCL No. A-2 wildcat, located three and one-half miles west of Wasco. Bottom of the hole is below 13,700 feet, which is 500 feet in excess of two and one-half miles.

This depth is close to 1,000 feet greater than that of the next deepest hole drilled anywhere in the world. The well is said to be practically vertical.

Geologists connected with the oil firm report that at the bottom of the hole registers a temperature of 270 degrees Fahrenheit.
